A Bank

Evicts residents
Abandons homes
Creates blight
Ignores community
May be out of business
Doesn't care

There is a single mother with children looking for a home. She worries about the safety and security of her family.

There is an empty house that's been abandoned – by a bank, by a mortgage broker, or by someone who simply doesn't want to bother anymore. The neighbors worry about the safety and security of their community.

We want to help a family in need move into a community in need. We believe that people in houses make a neighborhood whole. We are assisting residents committed to investing their lives in your community, and willing to turn a piece of property into a loving home.

The goal of Michigan Welfare Rights Organization and Housing Is A Human Right Coalition is to ensure the social and economic security of low income workers, families, and communities.

Be angry at the sight an abandoned house.
Welcome the family that wants to live in one.
